

June 2016

Hello & Welcome. My name is Mark Joseph Sutherland, as Community Partnerships Director for the Chesapeake Lighthouse Foundation (CLF), a credible, growing, & proud charter school operator for four very successful STEM/STEAM schools in Maryland, we believe together there is always room for improvement and ever more opportunities to explore in service of education to our country and community.

With that intention in mind, I wish to network with innovative, creative, and dedicated professionals that are decision makers in their own field. I guarantee a mutually beneficial relationship in corresponding with area company leaders; that's the power of compounding knowledge and is also CLF's industry: education. We know it is the community and support of our business and political leaders that attract the thousands of students from all diversities to our tuition-free, majority-minority educational institutions boasting a 100% graduation rate and U.S. News & World Report Gold ranking. Please contact me with any comments or assistance with your endeavors. We're here to help our community, district, county, state & country.

I graduated Summa Cum Laude from the State University of New York College at Brockport, earning a Bachelor of Science, a cumulative 3.9 GPA, gained membership to the English Honor Society & National Academic Honor Society while always maintaining positions on either Dean's Lists or President's Lists. Simply put, this translates into a proven work ethic and documents my ability to aim high & succeed.

I also have over thirteen years of professional work experience in fields such as: public relations, marketing, public speaking, special event coordination and non-profit education administration. My professional background and personal communication skills coupled with my enhanced writing abilities acquired in my degree program will be an asset to institutions desiring a self-motivated, dedicated individual to further their business goals & potential.

Warmest regards,

Mark J. Sutherland
